

10 Barossa Valley luxury accommodations for a lavish escape

 Barossa Valley

Kristie Lau-Adams  16 Nov 2024

Pair your visit to Australia's most idyllic wine country with a stay at one of the finest Barossa Valley luxury accommodation offerings

The reds are rich, the food is splendid and the scenery's lush – so it makes zero sense to cut the indulgences short when you're ready to hit the hay. Thankfully, a special collection of Barossa Valley luxury accommodation options, including The Louise, Kingsford The Barossa and the Barossa Pavilions, are calling. Heavenly backdrops complement breathtaking architecture while world-class hospitality stretches right across the region. You're also just an hour's drive from Adelaide, where you'll find another range of excellent hotels and homestays, but don't be surprised if you fail to make the trip. Parting with the Barossa's distinct charms isn't easy.

6. Benbullen Retreat

The exceptional homesteads keep coming with Benbullen Retreat, a lush, manicured slice of Barossa Valley heaven about a 10-minute drive from busy Tanunda. Its genius Concierge Experience is a true blessing for those keen to sit back and let the good times roll as a personal assistant is on-call to book all your wining and dining reservations. They'll even arrange flowers from the best local florist if you need them.

The five-bedroom bluestone masterpiece, which sleeps up to 10 people, is all rich timbers and gold finishings, and two of the bedrooms feature ensuites with bathtubs and Jurlique toiletries, while another two bedrooms are fitted with French doors opening out to fresh air and views. A sleek Hamptons-style kitchen is fitted with marble benchtops, double stove, and an enormous fridge and when it's time to mingle, a fire pit, multiple outdoors terraces, kids' play equipment, giant Jenga and Bocce, a wine country must-play, are all on hand to amplify the fun.

BenBullen Retreat sits in an undisturbed spot on the Barossa Valley grounds.
